By the result of the elections just held no material change in representation has been brought about. The conservatives gained three and lost three in New York, which leaves that State just as it was before the contest took place. However, the Radicals, it is thought, have gained, in all, three members, which will swell their count to 73 while at the same time, the conservatives are cut down from 21 to 18; of course these figures apply exclusively to the States enumerated above. Massachusetts gave 70,000 Radical majerity, Illineis, 40,000, Wisconsin, 18,000, New York, 12,000 to 15,000, and all the others in like proportion. What will follow the wrecklessness just displayed by the Rumpers, time will tell, yet one thing is now settled, and that is, that national affairs are becoming clouded, and impenetrable mists are gathering around the beacon light that shed a halo of glory upon the blood-bought victory of Washington and his hero band. Of course Mr. Thaddeus Stevens will now shrug his lean shoulders and say that his "hands are strengthened;" of course Beast Butler will talk louder about | ing of a late work written by Mrs. Mary J. together;" of course Hannibal Hamlin will | Carleton.
